

Sageworks announces locations for 2017 User Groups

By Credit Union Insight Staff, December 28, 2016

Registration is now open for all 8 locations

Sageworks, a financial information company that provides lending, credit risk and portfolio risk solutions to banks and credit unions, today announced the locations for its User Groups in 2017. User Group events facilitate networking among Sageworks clients while also offering solution training and best practice sharing provided by Sageworks' consulting team.

In 2016, more than 200 bankers attended one of the five regional seminars. The agenda is split between two tracks, ALLL and Credit Analysis. Each track offers thorough product review as well as relevant theory, including trends identified across Sageworks' 1000+ institutions. The tracks will offer attendees the opportunity to get questions answered in a face-to-face environment from both product experts and other users.

The networking time with other users is often considered to be the most valuable part of the day:

"I thought the peer networking was very useful in bringing up topics for the consultants to address. It was helpful and reassuring to hear the thoughts of my peers and how they use the software successfully...this was well worth my time." – Philadelphia Attendee

For 2017, Sageworks User Groups are expanding to cover eight cities, including Orlando, Nashville, Boston, Raleigh, Chicago, New York, Dallas and San Francisco.

"We are fortunate to have a great community of clients across the country and we value their feedback above all other data. These events are a great forum for us to listen and improve," said Scott Ogle, Chief Executive Officer of Sageworks.

For more information on the 2017 User Groups, or to register, visit web.sageworks.com/user-groups/ or email events@sageworks.com.

For the full story featuring Sageworks, visit Credit Union Insight - Sageworks announces locations for 2017 User Groups